McKINNON MAKES RAKING VERBAL FIRE

Takes Crack at Bishop Cannon as Well as Methodist Baptist Clergy which He Thinks Dabbled Too Much in Politics Last Year—De-Priest Tea and Gov. Bilbo Fall under His Piercing Pen. Letter Interesting to Read.

Editor Sentinel:

That was a neat slap on the wrist that you gave Bishop Cannon of the M. E. Church, South, last week for advising his brethren to stay clear of the Democratic primary soon to be held in Virginia for the nomination of a candidate for Governor and other state officers. This is the same Bishop Cannon who helped lead the revolt against the Democratic candidate for President, Gov. A. E. Smith, and together with others succeeded in fastening upon Virginia the ineffaceable stigma and stain of going Republican for the first time in all its history. This is the same Bishop Cannon who attended the Democratic National Convention at Houston last summer and attempted to dictate to that great body of men and women who their candidate should be and on what platform he should run. This is the same Bishop Cannon who in a passage at arms with Senator Tydings of Maryland was flatly called a lie and only the intervention of Senator Glass saved him from a whipping. I'll bet the Senator from Virginia now wishes he hadn't interfered. The Baptist parsons and the Methodist bishops had some sort of treaty last fall whereby they quit quarreling for the nonce about infant baptism, backsliding, the final preservation of the saints, close communion, and other things about which they had differed since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, while they respectively led all they could of their flocks outside the Democratic party and into the nigger loving Republican party.

But thanks, in Mississippi most of their members did their own thinking. They "sho" had mighty little influence. The fact, is it is pretty generally admitted today that there is more brains and learning in the pew than in the pulpit.

But that treaty, if there was a treaty, has been abrogated and they have gone to fighting again. While the bishop aforesaid persists in his treason the Rev. R. H. Hitt, editor of a Baptist paper in Virginia, has announced his in-

ATKINSON DISCUSSES PROPOSED TAX LEVY

County Superintendent Endeavors to Still Further Explain Proposed Five-Mill School Levy and to Show It Will Not Increase Tax in School Districts Already Making Levies and that Increase Will Give 8-Months.

Editor Sentinel:

Attached hereto is an extract from an article in the Coffeeville Courier, published by Hon. G. E. Denley, which gives a splendid account of the facts relative to the operation of the proposition of the counties cooperating with the state in securing the increased revenues for rural and consolidated schools. Senator Denley explains, in a clear and forceful manner, the law and how it operates to the interest of the schools in poor counties. He writes as follows:

"The Courier is taking the stand that it is, by far, the cheaper and better plan to take the necessary steps and meet the requirements that will be necessary to get our proportionate share.

"In this county, Yalobusha, we have a general county levy of four mills, and in the different consolidated school districts there is an extra levy of from eight to fifteen mills. By placing a county wide ten mill levy it would reduce the rate anywhere from four to six mills.

"On the other hand should we continue the four mill levy as it now stands we would not get a dollar of the so called floating fund. If, however, we vote a ten mill levy we would get from the state treasury one dollar for each dollar thus raised. (If this ten mill tax raised $50,000 then there would be $50,000 forthcoming from the state.)"

It may be observed that Mr. Denley entertained the opinion, like many other good people, that it was not right to call upon the counties to vote more money for schools after the powers at Jackson stated that they had "given the people of Mississippi an 8 months school term". But on reflection, he realized that what the state had appropriated would be used in other counties whether his

MRS. MORRISON CALLS MEET

Is it too much to ask that the ladies of Grenada and of district one meet me at the mayor's office in Grenada tomorrow (Saturday) June 22nd, at 5:30 p. m.? There are some things taking place of vital interest to all citizens and peculiarly so, according to my ideas, to the women. The duties of citizenship have been conferred upon us. Few indeed of us at the South asked for it, but now that we have these responsibilities, let us come up to the aid of the good men by informing ourselves and acting for the general welfare. Nero, it is said, fiddled while Rome burned. Shall we of Grenada fiddle and take no steps towards stopping things that are oppressive and hurtful?

Respectfully,
MRS. S. A. MORRISON

Grenada Plays Host To Training School

Annual Sunday School Training School Being Held under Management North Mississippi Methodist Conference. Purpose to Train Teachers for Work in Standardized Schools—Leading Ministers Are Present.

The Methodist church of North Mississippi is having its annual Standard Sunday School Training School at Grenada College this week. It began Monday afternoon. This school was started some half dozen years ago. Grenada has been the meeting place. The college and its commodious and delightful grounds furnish most suitable and inviting quarters for this or any other church gathering.

The training school is conducted upon the idea that the people need a better and a more discerning knowledge of the Bible and that the surest and best way to get this is to begin with the children, and to begin with the children it is necessary to have trained men and women to teach in the Sunday Schools. The higher-ups have seen fit to standardize Sunday Schools; in short, it has been decreed that the Sunday Schools need to follow the secular schools in making certain units and in taking certain prescribed courses of study.

The school has never failed to bring together the more potential members of the olergy of the North Mississippi conference who by their presence and attendance give inspiration and encouragement to what is being done. Besides the classes, there are sundry lectures on religious endeavor and church work that fit in well with the training school and with church programs in general.

It is stated that there is nothing sectarian in the teachings, that it is the purpose of the training school to further intelligent Bible reading and study and not the cause of the Methodist church except insofar as that church will share in every movement that pertains to faith in God and right living. The invitation has therefore been given to members of other churches to attend the school and to share in what is being taught.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, for years Sunday School secretary of the conference, is the prime directing head of the training school. He has an efficient co-laborer in Rev. E. G. Mohler, rural Sunday School secretary.

The following ministers are in attendance:

A. T. McIlwain, L. P. Wasson, S. E. Ashmore, L. M. Lipscomb, W. L. Robinson, J. T. Lewis, C. L. Oaks, W. J. Wood, J. S. Maxey, H. R. McKee, C. A. Northington, R. H. B. Gladney, John C. Chambers, S. OPENS SECOND STATION FOR SERVICE TO AUTO OWNERS

Miss Estelle Rollins, proprietor of the 111 Service Station which has made for itself an enviable reputation in that line, has just leased the stand formerly occupied by C. A. Perry Motor Co. and is now ready to give at the new stand the same kind of service that has characterized the 111 station. Miss Rollins will continue to operate both stations and she invites her friends to drive by her new place of business.

YOU OWE WHAT YOUR TOWN AND COUNTY OWE, MR. CITIZEN

With the desire to perform what we regard as our duty as a newspaper to place the facts and the conditions correctly and properly before our readers in regard to all public measures and particularly in the matter of showing what we, as citizens, owe, The Sentinel still further presents one of the issues wrapped up in the proposed bond issue of $65,000, which is to be passed upon by the voters of Grenada and beat 1 on June 29.

We have heretofore shown that the official figures reveal that the town of Grenada now owes in outstanding bonds $339,000. A recent census of the town returned a population of 4800. Of this number it is approximately correct to say there are 1250 men, both white and colored, or an indebtedness for city bonds of $271 apiece for every man in Grenada. If we consider the figures on the basis of every taxpayer, we would find the individual bonded indebtedness of the town to be close to $350 for each and every male taxpayer. If the bonds are issued, more than 60 per cent of the issue, or over $39,000, must be paid by the taxpayers of the town of Grenada.

According to official figures given out from the auditor's office early in the year, the total bonded indebtedness of the state, including all subdivisions, is $140,043,776, or a debt of $87.50 for every man, woman and child in the state, reckoning the population at 1,600,000; or approximately a debt on every male citizen of the state (white and black) of $269.

Let us remember, too, that the state is in a muddle over its finances and that it is going to be necessary for the legislature and the Governor to increase taxes in order to take care of the money appropriated. It is therefore evident that the state tax levy will be increased several mills or that the tax will be levied by some sort of subterfuge—it must and will come out of the pockets of the tax payer.

According to the report of the state accountant who audited the books of Grenada County in the fall of 1927, as we showed in The Sentinel of June 7, the total bonded indebtedness of this entire county then was $973,000,000.

We showed, among other things, that the official records disclosed that the property owners of Grenada and of beat 1 owe, on the basis of assessment, $665,000—in effect their promises to pay are attached to that many bonds now.

How can we explain our big tax levy to those we are inviting to come and settle among us?

Will not a tax levy of 67 mills, that is what it was last year in Grenada including both city and county levies, or nearly 7 per cent, serve to discourage people to come among us and buy property?

Naturally a business man hunting a location is going to inquire about the tax rate, hence it seems to us that it would be the part of wisdom for us to begin to devise plans to cut down our debts rather than to add to them.

Will not a further increase in bonded indebtedness serve to place still more overhead expenses on our merchants and make it more difficult for them to make both ends meet and to meet the competition of other towns?

Tea At White House Creates Great Stir

Fact that Wife of Negro Congressman Is Guest at Official White House Tea Stirs Washington Society—Negro Congressman Said to Have Grown Rich Renting Property to Chicago Underworld. Said to Advocate Social Equality.

Washington, June 14.—The announcement appearing in a Washington newspaper that the social career in the national capital of the wife of Oscar De Priest, negro congressman from Chicago, had been formally launched from the White House yesterday when she was the guest of Mrs. Herbert Hoover at tea was received with surprise and amazement here today.

Southern members of Congress and even some from other sections of the country were incredulous when they heard of the incident because they did not believe the White House, at this critical phase of the president's political career would sanction anything which would so stir up the country.

They recalled instantly the incident when President Roosevelt entertained Booker T. Washington at breakfast but the distinction between the two incidents is apparent. Booker Washington was the most noted negro of his time, president of Tuskegee institute in Alabama, a man of high intellectual attainments and character. When the impetuous "Teddy" recognized this man, the offense to the public taste was mitigated by the feeling that Roosevelt was attempting to recognize the preeminence of the negro teacher among his race.

The feeling about the De Priest affair is the more acute because the Chicago negro is reputed to have acquired his wealth and his dominance over certain lower elements of his district by being a vice overlord. He is reputed to be the controlling spirit in a vice ring and is said to own several houses which are used for gambling and prostitution in Chicago. He was under indictment just before he was sworn in. With this social background, there are numerous northern members of Congress who have not felt that they should establish social contacts with the negro congressman.

MRS. J. H. HORN FALLS AND BREAKS ARM

While out watering the flowers in her yard at a late hour Wednesday afternoon Mrs. J. H. Horn fell and broke her arm just at the elbow. The break is one of those most difficult for doctors to handle, but the many friends of this good woman hope that she may have a speedy recovery.

According to announcements of the State Teachers College and Co. Supt. Lafayette Atkinson, all students who have finished a four year non-affiliated high school and reside in the 4th Congressional District and expect to enter any college in September, will have the opportunity to take entrance examination at the office of the county superintendent of education in Grenada at the court house, Saturday, June 22, at 10 o'clock.

ROTARY HEARS CONVENTION REPORT, VOCATIONAL TALK

B. J. Anderson, incoming president of the Grenada Rotary Club and official delegate from the local club to the recent international convention in Dallas, made an informative report of the proceedings of the gathering to his fellow members at the Rotary luncheon Tuesday. Mr. Anderson described in detail the opening of the convention with the pageant of the 52 nations which now have Rotary clubs, saying that it was produced on a stupendous and magnificent scale. The speaker said that the part of the convention which impressed him most was the club service conference and he told of several ideas gained at this conference which he felt would benefit the local club and which he hopes to adopt during his administration.

Dr. R. A. Clanton read a splendid paper on the subject of his profession, in which he traced the progress of medicine and the art of healing from prehistoric days on down to the present time. The paper showed that a great deal of care had been exercised in its preparation and all who heard it delivered, thoroughly enjoyed the contents.

Messrs. Roy Nelson, of Jackson, and T. L. Pryor, of Charleston, were guests at the luncheon.

It was unanimously voted to postpone the next meeting from Tuesday to Wednesday so that the club might lunch with those Rotarians who will be here next Tuesday and Wednesday for the district assembly.

EXCEPTIONAL PROGRAM AT LOCAL THEATRE NEXT WEEK

A glance at the program of Grenada Theatre starting Monday, June 24th, is convincing that a rare treat is in store for the amusement-loving public. Monday is a silent picture with bewitching Colleen Moore in the stellar role. Tuesday and Wednesday Billie Dove, the most beautiful actress of the screen, makes her talking debut in "CAREERS" - a First National Vitaphone All-Talking production. Miss Dove is said to talk as well as she looks! And then Thursday and Friday comes "THE WILD PARTY" with Clara Bow. This is also Clara's first talkie. She does everything! Says everything! Beauty, youth and romance - mixed together in one big entertainment. And for those who like action and thrills, Hoot Gobson in "KING OF THE RODEO" will be seen Saturday.

The management of the Grenada Theatre has always had the habit of putting on good entertainment, but next week looks like it is trying to put it all on in one week. It is promised that more surprises are coming, however. The people of Grenada and surrounding territory are finding worthwhile entertainment in the Vitaphone talking pictures being shown at Grenada Theatre.

NEW STORE TO OPEN

Attention of Sentinel readers is called to the advertisement of J. K. Shaw which appears in this paper announcing the opening of a new millinery and ready-to-wear store here. Mr. Shaw is not unknown to Grenadians, having been in business here for several years some time since. The announcement of any new business enterprise should be of interest and The Sentinel suggests that all read Mr. Shaw's announcement.

Mrs. Morrison Gives Review Texas Visit

Tells of Visiting Hon. L. L. Bowman and Wife at Greenville, Former Grenadians, and F. P. McElwrath, of Whom She Speaks as Big Banker, Landowner and Road Builder—Mississippi Still Ahead—Day with Capt. Provine.

Editor Sentinel:

In a recent visit through the heart of the most beautiful farming section in Texas, beginning at Greenville, then in a southerly direction through the cities of Dallas, Ft. Worth, Corsicana, Waco, Austin, and San Antonio, I was thrilled beyond expression. Dame Nature seemed to have done her best, and the farmers to have contributed without stint of their energy, thought, and effort to make of their holdings all that a gracious giver could expect of mortal man. The thousands of acres of corn, cotton, and native field flowers made pictures which artists' brushes have never been able to quite give justice, though they are ever making the attempt.

Judge L. L. Bowman and Mamie Murff Bowman, loved friends of days long gone by when they and I attempted "to teach the young idea how to shoot" over in what is now our grammar school building, took great pleasure in showing me everything of interest, and first called my attention to the "Indian paint brush" and the blue bonnets which, when spread out between fields of corn and cotton, gave color to these matchless fields. The "blue bonnet", by the way, is the state flower of Texas, and advisedly so. It was good to see and know how well our Mississippi friends have prospered. After a delightful five days with the Bowmans, I spent a week in the wonderful city of Dallas, which has gained 50,000 inhabitants in two years, visiting my relatives, and on to enjoy my friends, the McElwraths, of Corsicana. "Frank", the banker, road builder, and farmer, took me over hundreds of miles of farming lands much of which was his, and pointed out the wonderful advantages of his state. Through waving fields of grain and growing cotton, we motored to catch a through train to Austin and San Antonio, my objective.

My relatives there, former Mississippians, were anxious to show off their counties to the tenderfoot from the east, and with the assurance of their friends gave me a most glowing picture of social life and the beautiful scenery of the capital city and historic San Antonio. The latter city is unique standing alone in the annals of time, but Austin, the "friendly city" as it is very appropriately called, can not be surpassed in beautiful scenery and charming citizenship. In my trip each summer through the great northwest I saw nothing to surpass the scenery around Austin.

While out there enjoying the hospitality of the big hearted Texas we thought, "truly is this the grandest state in the Union", but when I get home and motor around our own beloved haunts and see broad fields on either side of our hard surfaced roads, as I did on yesterday, with hills, and dales of our wonderful native trees, interspersed, I am made to exclaim "how great is one's own native land".

For the first time in my life I went into Calhoun County on a day's visit to Capt. Robert Provine and his lovely daughter. Truly was that ride and visit remarkable. I had no idea there were such splendid farms in that section, and to sit in the presence of Capt. Provine, who is nearing his four score and tens, patriot, soldier and friend, I count it a privilege indeed and I am wondering where is there such another. Will our young men of this generation come up to the mark of the high calling of a citizenship of which he is the outstanding exponent? Truly was my visit of yesterday a fitting finale to a very delightful two months travel. Mr. Editor, please pardon the length of this if indeed you publish it at all. I have written it by request.

MRS. S. A. MORRISON.

WILL BEGIN TENT MEETING

The members of the Church of Christ in Grenada will begin their annual gospel meeting here on Sunday, June 30. The services will continue for fifteen days, with preaching twice daily, closing Sunday, July 14.

The preaching will be done by W. B. West, of Charleston, Miss., who is said to be a forceful pulpit orator and a consecrated religious worker. Leonard Kirk, of Hampshire, Tenn., will direct the singing. He has had considerable experience, despite his youth, in assisting in meetings and can be counted upon to do his share in making the revival a success.

The services will be held under canvas on the public school grounds. The public is invited at all times.

Letter Describes Trip Through West

Dr. Wm. P. Ferguson Records Daily Events of Automobile Trip through Texas and Other States into Golden West—Many Things New to Him and Much of What He Saw New to Sentinel Readers—Second Letter to Follow.

The following letter was received by The Sentinel too late for publication in last week's paper. It came from Dr. Wm. P. Ferguson who, with his wife, was on a visit to their daughter and her husband in Los Angeles. The letter is well written and is interesting indeed. This paper has a second letter from the Doctor, written also from Los Angeles, which is equally as interesting and which will appear next week. Dr. and Mrs. Ferguson reached home a few days ago much refreshed from their most enjoyable vacation.

The first letter follows:

Editor Sentinel:

You will no doubt be glad to have a few lines from a couple of "Old Timers" who are taking a vacation, the first in twenty-five years. This vacation is a gift from our daughter, and she and her husband want us to make it a permanent one, but we are not quite ready for retirement. Besides the good people of Grenada, there are many dumb animals awaiting the return of their benefactors. We just love Grenada and all it has done for us and will be returning soon, but will never forget this wonderful scenery, and all the beautiful side trips our daughter and her husband are giving us.

We left Grenada with them in their big 106 horsepower Packard Sedan 8 on a beautiful May morn. Before pulling out, we stopped at the Grenada College campus to view a gorgeous sunrise and were reminded by our daughter that as the sun was rising to give light and warmth to all of God's creation, so the Grenada College was standing as in days gone by, for the education and betterment of thousands of fortunate girls who might enter its portals.

Now I will give you a few notations I made along the road to California.

Tuesday, May 21st, 1929, with our daughter, Hersee, at the wheel, we pulled out on Highway No. 51; after a delightful breakfast at a most beautiful hotel in Durant, we proceeded to Jackson. From there we took Highway No. 80 to Vicksburg; fine roads all the way. At Vicksburg we crossed the mighty Mississippi River on a fine ferry boat without leaving our seat in the car. After driving off the ferry, we continued on road No. 80 to Shreveport, La. where we registered at the Washington Youree Hotel where we had a lovely room and private bath. We soon were ready to go down for dinner in the gorgeous dining hall with the finest service. We forgot that we had traveled over three hundred miles and after reading a while, retired to dream of the golden West.

Wednesday, May 22nd. We pulled out from Shreveport over road No. 80, headed for Dallas, Texas, passing through Marshall, Longview, Terrill and Lawrence, stop-

TOWNS ARE CHOOSING PAGEANT ENTRANTS

North Mississippi Communities Manifesting Great Interest in Pageant of Progress to Be Held at Grenada Fairgrounds July 4th—Selecting Representatives to Contest for Title of "Miss North Mississippi", Pageant Queen.

The contests being conducted throughout North Mississippi in an effort to elect a "Miss North Mississippi" to reign as queen of the "Pageant of Progress" to be presented at the Grenada fair grounds July 4th have reached greater proportions than at first thought possible. Cities and towns all over the northern part of the state are running contests, putting on style shows, appointing committees and endeavoring in many other ways to select the typical southern girl to represent their community at Grenada.

Several girls have already been selected. Miss Alice Provine, of Charleston, was selected from among several hundred by the Rotary Club of that city. Miss Provine is not only a very beautiful and accomplished young lady but is extremely popular, having many friends throughout this section of the state.

Miss Elizabeth Johnston will represent Carrollton and its vicinity. Miss Johnston is truly a daughter of the south, paternal and maternal ancestors having had a part in the affairs of North Mississippi for generations. She is very beautiful and has that disposition that goes far to make and hold friends wherever she is known.

Other towns have many contestants lined up but have not been able to select their representatives so keen is the competition.

Water Valley will hold a style show within the next few days sponsored by the Rotary Club and The Progress Itemizer in an effort to select the proper type of girl as "Miss Water Valley".

Various clubs in the different cities will back the young lady contestants in hopes that their city will bring home the honor of being made "Miss North Mississippi", the selection to be made by applause as part of the program included in the pageant. Competent judges will be selected to judge the applause and should there be a tie the judges will make the selection. These judges will be selected for their fairness and fit-

BEAT 5 SUPERVISOR FAVORS TAX LEVY

W. W. Whitaker Gives Logical Reasons Why Proposed Increase in County-wide School Levy Should Be Made—Says Schools and Children Should Come First. Believes for Best Interests of All Sections that Election Carry June 29.

Editor Sentinel:

May I use your columns for the purpose of addressing particularly the people of Beat 5? I believe in retrenchment. I believe in cutting down expenses wherever possible when it will not cripple the interests of the public, and I have so voted when the opportunity has been offered since I have been your supervisor, but the school question now before us is quite another matter, and if it carries, will save our people money. Anyway our schools and our children come first.

The proposed 5 mill levy therefore appeals to me, as a patron of the rural schools and as supervisor.

We of beat 5 have been assured by both the County Superintendent and by the State Superintendent that, if we raise the county-wide levy 3½ mills, we can, at once, reduce our local levy the same amount; and that, by so doing, we are assured that we will be able to participate to a greater extent in State funds. I was heartily in favor of the proposition the last time it was up for voting, for I could not see how we could lose anything. I am still in favor of it and believe that it is a practical way out of our financial difficulties.

We of beat 5 (and this is true of most of the rural beats in the state) are faced with this proposition: (1) Due to the cutting of merchantable timber, to the abandonment of land, and to other causes, our assessment is becoming less and less each year. (2) we are unanimously opposed to an increase in the levy, and (3) none of us wishes to take a step backward in the matter of school facilities. In view of these conditions, as I see it, we must do one of four things. (1) by some magic,

GOV. BILBO CALLS LEGISLATURE FOR MONDAY, NEXT.

Gov. Bilbo has issued a call for another extraordinary session of the legislature to convene next Monday. He names but one thing in the call and that is the question of permanent road building. Perhaps the Governor holds other things up his sleeve which he hopes to use as a bait for votes.

It is doubtful if agreement on a road bill is any nearer than when the last special session adjourned. The Governor has bowed his neck against any road bill that does not authorize him to name the highway commissioners. Likewise the lower house of the legislature is irrevocably committed against giving this authority to the Governor.

A happy solution, it seems to us, would be to have the commissioners elected by the people; if this particular feature can be written into any highway bill we believe that a spirit of compromise will prevail on many others which have heretofore seemed beyond reconcilation.

There can be no question about the need of beginning in a conservative way permanent highway building in Mississippi.

INVESTIGATION SHOWS TWO THINGS.

The legislative committee investigating the official action of the former chairman of the Tax Commission shows two things, if nothing else: One is that notwithstanding the unusual and extraordinary powers and authority conferred upon the chairman of the State Tax Commission, that that official seems to have been unable to do anything much himself, and that he sought the advice and aid of the state's attorney general on every little matter. The other thing is: That he was most liberal with the taxpayers' money in paying fees to extra attorneys.

By the way, we wonder what the fees for attorneys will be in these investigations(?)

A MARVEL THAT TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS NO MORE FREQUENT.

The more one is in an automobile and on the highways the more he realizes that it is almost marvelous that there are no more accidents than there are.

One may be a careful driver and may insist that he is following regulations, but it is the safest rule to count on the drivers of other cars acting a fool or a daredevil.

Many, many drive cars who do not know how and never will know how.

Hardly a week passes that mere tots cannot be seen at the wheel of cars in Grenada.

Autoists back out into the middle of Main Street and turn round frequently and many other similar things are done almost every day.

Speeders going at a break-neck rate are every day occurrences.

It has been said that the good Lord takes care of children and drunken men and it may also be said of a truth that He takes care of autoists in Grenada.

Most of the traffic rules and regulations of Grenada were undoubtedly passed for appearance's sake and not to be enforced.

Last year the toll of reckless autoists was 27,000 lives; this year the figures will most probably total 35,000.

SHOOTING AT RANDOM.

The prohibition cause is injured more by hair-trigger enforcement agents than by any flaws in the principle of the amendment law. During the past few months there have been many murders committed in the name of "prohibition enforcement." And the ugly part of it is that some of these killings have been entirely inexcusable. Persons utterly innocent of any apparent crime have been killed "by mistake." Local and federal officers have shot at random and have killed in instances where there was not even justification for arrest.

President Hoover's law enforcement commission might hire a few psychologists to look into the motives of badge-wearers who tend to shoot without reason. Perhaps the official killers are guided by divine hunches and can attribute their mistakes to misguiding urges. It might be best to have a disarmament conference of enforcement officers and bootleggers. "Innocent bystanders" would give full approval to such a conference.

The above is taken from the Memphis Evening Appeal of June 18. It is a timely statement, and will meet the approval of the most capable and useful prohibition officers, and of those citizens who are the pillars of lawenforcement and who believe in justice and the Golden Rule.

The man operating a still and who reaches for his gun when run in on by officers, has no right to expect anything else except to be shot. The man who deliberately and contemptuously sets himself to violate the law must expect to be dealt with by officers as a man would deal with a poisonous snake if caged with one.

We stand for lawobservance and lawenforcement. We have tried to live it. The columns of this paper bear abundant testimony of our antagonism to the liquor traffic.

It is not the shooting of resisting liquor makers and liquor vendors that is causing indignation, but it is the shooting without authority of law the innocent man on the highway because he does not stop at the hail of an officer. The man on a highway and who is no liquor vendor, and maybe who never thought of such a thing, and who is lawabiding, never thinks of an officer hailing him as a suspect. Furthermore, it is the part of wisdom, in view of the murders, holdups and other crimes throughout the land, for a man not to stop on a highway when hailed by some unknown person.

The shooting without authority of law by officers comes of having a puny pisant clothed with a little brief authority. These cocoanut heads armed with authority delight to parade their authority and to make a display of their weapons. Goliath was a pigmy besides these runts when they have a pistol stuck in their hip pocket where the public can see it—these are the class of fellows who are committing murder in the name of the law and who are hurting the very cause the best people of the land are seeking to further.

The matter is so grave that President Hoover has seen fit to issue a public statement relative to reckless shooting. The President is right.

THE DE PRIEST WOMAN AT THE TEA.

The official tea given by Mrs. Hoover at the White House a few days ago at which appeared the wife of the negro congressman, DePriest, serves once again to remind the thinking man of this country of the acuteness of the race question. The woman's appearing at the luncheon was most unfortunate fro several angles, and peculiarly was it unfortunate for the colored population of the United States—they are the ones who will experience the hurt from it.

The South rebels against social intercourse with the negroes. The best and most sensible negroes of this section do not want it. The best white people of the South and the best colored citizens understand each other and they are working together for one great end.

A negro of the type of DePriest who is seeking social equality, can and will destroy much good that is being done by both races in the South.

DePriest comes from a district in Chicago which is composed of 80 per cent negroes.

Lesson for June 23

A PSALM OF PRAISE

LESSON TEXT—Psalm 103:1-22.
GOLDEN TEXT—Bless the Lord, O my soul.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Song of Praise.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Song of Praise.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Privilege of Worshiping God.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Habit of Thankfulness.

This beautiful psalm of praise follows one of the importunate pleadings for help in time of great need. Andrew Bonar calls it "A Song of a Redeemed One by the Redeemer's Side." It is entirely given up to praise; not a single supplication being found in it.

I. Adoration for Personal Benefits (vv. 1-5).

The Psalmist calls upon his soul to bless God's holy name. Man's whole nature, intellectually and spiritually, is called upon to adore God. Note the benefits recognized by the Psalmist:

1. "Forgiveth all thine iniquities" (v. 3). Pardon for our sins is the most important of all God's benefits.

2. "Healeth all thy diseases" (v. 3). Healing here refers to that of the body and the soul. Renovation of the entire nature, especially the moral, follows forgiveness of sins.

3. "Redeemeth thy life from destruction" (v. 4). The sinner is in the position of a debtor. All the demands made against him because of his sins, were paid by Jesus Christ.

4. "Crowneth thee with loving kindness" (v. 4). The redeemed one not only has forgiveness of sins, but is invested with the full rights of heavenly citizenship.

5. "Satisfieth thy mouth" (v. 5). When one enters into saving relationship with Christ he does not incur loss, but great gain. He is not deprived of any rights. He experiences the renewal of his youth. To receive Christ is to enjoy great gain.

II. Praise for God's Excellencies (v. 6-13).

The Psalmist now looks away from the benefits bestowed to the very quality of the being who bestowed them. True gratitude goes past the gifts to the giver.

1. His justice (v. 6).

"He executeth righteousness." God is always against the oppressor and on the side of the oppressed. This points to the time when Messiah's reign shall extend over the whole world.

2. He reveals Himself (v. 7). This He did in a peculiar way to Moses and the Children of Israel. The very name Jehovah means Self-revealing One (Ex. 3:14). God created man in His likeness and image in order that He might not only reveal Himself, but that He might share His goodness with the creature.

3. Merciful and gracious (v. 8). As a sinner man needs pardon and favor, God in His mercy pardons the sinner who calls upon him and and through His grace He bestows favor upon him. God's wrath is ever against and must strike at sin. Yet it is slow to act. He is plenteous in mercy.

4. Not always contending (v. 9). God's love for His children moves Him to contend with them. When they turn from their sin, He ceases to chasten them. God holds no grudges. He forgets our stubborn follies as soon as we turn from them.

5. God's forgiveness (vv. 10-13).

This forgiveness is manifested in His not dealing with us according to our sins, in showing supreme mercy, in putting away sin as far as the East is from the West, and in fatherly pity. We usually think to praise God for what He has done. How much we ought to praise Him for what he has refrained from doing.

III. Man's Frailty and God's Eternity (vv. 14-19).

1. His frailty (vv. 14-16).

(1) He is but dust (v. 14). God constituted man's body out of the dust of the ground, therefore He knows his frailty. (2) His days are as grass (v. 15). He flourishes as the flower of the field. As the grass disappears under a blighting wind (v. 16), so a small blast from God will destroy man's life.

2. God's eternity (vv. 17-19). God's goodness and mercy are from everlasting to everlasting. This goodness and mercy He shows from generation to generation. God is absolutely unchangeable.

IV. Call to Universal Thanksgiving (vv. 20-22).

Since His dominion is over all, it calls for recognition by all.

1. Angels (v. 20). Intelligent spirits that bear his Messages and go on His errands are called upon to praise and adore Him.

2. His hosts (v. 21). By hosts here is likely meant the sun, moon and stars. They are called upon to give Him due praise (Ps. 19:1).

3. His works (v. 22).

Whatever He has done, whether in creation, providence or redemption, His works make known His marvelous goodness.

PETITION FOR PARDON

To His Excellency, Theo. G. Bilbo, Governor of Mississippi.

We the under signed citizens of Grenada County, Miss. do most respectfully petition and ask that your Excellency grant a pardon to Lewis Liles, who, on the thirty-first day of Jan. 1929 in Circuit Court of Grenada County, Miss., plead Guilty to the charge of Grand Larceny and was sentenced on the thirty-first day of Jan. 1929 to the term of 1 year in the State Penitentiary of said State for said crime.

We respectfully show to your Excellency that this is Liles' first offense, that he is a young man of twenty-four years, that he has a wife and one small child that are dependent on him for their livlihood, that the amount involved in the case was the small amount of thirty dollars, that he has been a respected citizen of Grenada County, Miss., since childhood. We further wish to show to your Excellency that prison life to a boy like this is not for the betterment for either society or the individual, that Liles feels deeply the disgrace that he has brought upon himself and his family and we believe that if he is given a pardon that he will in the future make a better citizen.

We are advised that he has made a model prisoner since his incarceration and respectfully submit and ask that your Excellency grant him a pardon.

Respectfully submitted,
J. H. HARRIS and Others.

It keeps your food safe

In the General Electric Refrigerator the temperature is kept several degrees below fifty... always! Fifty degrees is accepted by scientists as the "danger point" in the preservation of food. When the temperature rises even a degree or two above that, bacteria multiply, foods become unsafe to eat.

Perhaps you think your own refrigerator is always "cold enough." You cannot be sure unless you actually take your refrigerator's temperature. It is constant cold which is needed.

Countless superiorities give the General Electric Refrigerator its outstanding position... an hermetically sealed, dust-proof mechanism, mounted on top... an accessible temperature control... a new standard of quiet operation... no oiling... no troublesome machinery... simplified installation... no radio interference ... an unqualified two-year service guarantee.

The new all-steel cabinets and the hermetically sealed mechanism combine to produce what we believe is the finest refrigerator ever made. More than a quarter of a million homes are enjoying the convenience, economy and health-guarding services of the General Electric Refrigerator. And not one of these owners has ever paid a dollar for repairs or service! This is a record in the industry.

WHAT IS CHRYSLER ENGINEERING?

It is a matter of opinion as to who did most in creating the automobile, but it is a matter of fact that Chrysler has done most in modernizing it. Some of the most vital and thrilling chapters in the history of the motor car have been written by Chrysler engineers.

Chrysler engineering, analyzed in simple terms, is a combination of far-sighted vision and resourceful genius that succeed in accomplishing inspired improvements. In one word, Chrysler engineering is ::: Progress.

This is not a vainglorious gesture—it is a statement of plain, hard-shell fact fully borne out by the following partial list of advancements which Chrysler has pioneered or developed:

Hydraulic Four-Wheel Brakes
Rubber Shock Insulators
"Silver-Dome" and "Red Head" High-compression Engines
High Turbulence Offset Combustion Chamber
Fully Counter-weighted 7-Bearing Crankshaft
Iso-therm Invar Strut Pistons with Tungsten Rings
Non-wearing Chilled Cast-Iron Base Tappets

Modern Plain Tube Carburetion—with Positive Pressure Pump Acceleration and Semi-Automatic Choke Valve
Indirect Lighting of Instrument Panel
Light Controls on Steering Wheel

IT HAPPENED 66 YEARS AGO

Resolutions Touching Life of Harmon W. Dubard.

The resolutions which are published below appeared in the "Country Gentleman", 66 years ago, a newspaper published in Grenada at that time and the letter "D" which is attached to the resolutions, was evidently meant that Jerry Davis was the author. He was at that time the editor of the Country Gentleman. The old newspaper clipping was taken from a "Scrap Book" belonging to Miss Jo Anna Owen. Harmon W. Dubard, about whose death the resolutions were written, was the oldest half-brother of Grenada's well known able, useful and philosophic citizen, Mr. W. M. Dubard. The deceased was one of the first to pass away at the beginning of the Civil War. The soldiers were encamped near Corinth, ready for any order or organization to which they might be called. Besides this brother, Mr. Dubard also had another half brother who gave up his life during that fratricidal struggle. The resolutions, The Sentinel feels sure, will be read with general interest by Grenada citizens and particularly by those whose memories reach back to the days of the Civil War:

Tribute of Respect

At a special meeting of the "Grenada Rifles," held at Camp Statham, near Corinth, Miss., July 27th, 1861, and called in respect to the memory of our departed companion, Harmon W. Dubard, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the All-wise Ruler of the universe to remove from our midst our beloved friend and comrade, Harmon W. Dubard, therefore

Resolved, That in the death of Harmon W. Dubard, we have lost one of our most esteemed and useful companions, the Company one of its best members, and the Confederate service one of its most faithful and efficient soldiers.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the bereaved parents of our deceased comrade, and offer them our heartfelt condolence in this, our mutual loss.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the Southern Rural Gentleman and the Southern Motive for publication, and that the same be forwarded to the parents of the lamented deceased.

S. C. BUFFALOE,
T. H. CUNNINGHAM,
J. G. WRIGHT,
T. E. PEACOCK,
G. F. CRAWFORD.
Committee of the "Grenada Rifles."

Camp of 15th Reg. Miss. Volunteers, near Corinth, Miss., July 27th, 1861.

(Memphis Christian Advocate please copy).

The subject of the above Tribute was 22 years of age and of noble worth. We knew him well, and can attest to his many virtues and exceeding promise for future usefulness. His remains were brought home by a detachment of soldiers, and were buried in the midst of a very large congregation of mourning relatives, friends and acquaintances. It is a consolation, however, that he died in the service of his country, and for the glorious principles of civil liberty. Peace and honor to his memory. D.

GRENADA AND WINONA PLAY 10-INNING TIE

Grenada and Winona played one of the most thrilling games of the season last Thursday afternoon when they crossed bats on the local diamond. The two teams met the day before in Winona and Grenada came out victorious in a hard-fought battle 5 to 4.

Thursday Winona jumped off to a one-run lead in the first inning and added another tally in the fifth. Grenada was held scoreless until the seventh when one man crossed the plate. In the ninth the score was tied and the deadlock remained unbroken when the game was called in the tenth.

Perkins, for Grenada, pitched a superb game of ball. He allowed only six scattered hits, struck out thirteen men and walked but three.

The two teams meet again in Grenada on the fourth of July and an interesting fight is promised.

MAJESTIC LEADERSHIP IN RADIO UNQUESTIONED

Reports from the Radio Show held in Chicago the first week in June indicate that the supremacy of Majestic Radio has not only been maintained but materially strengthened by the announcement, display and actual demonstrations of two new models 91 and 92. Incorporated in these are many sensational new developments. Included in these features are beautiful new cabinets, the use of the new type tubes which have passed the experimental stage, power detection, and Majestic automatic sensitivity control.

These new models are reported to be the most powerful and selective radios ever built. Volume can be produced, free of distortion, that has previously been undreamed of. The "single channel selectivity" gives precision in tuning that will delight even the most cynical distance hunter. These new models of the Majestic are beyond question the greatest values known to the radio industry. The authorized and exclusive dealer in Grenada of Majestic Radio is the Sharp Furniture Co.

Strain-Stevens.

A beautiful home wedding was solemnized in Nashville, Friday evening, June 14, at seven o'clock between Miss Mary Etta Stevens, of Grenada, and Mr. James R. Strain, of Tupelo.

The home of Mrs. C. E. Skinner, where the ceremony was performed, was artistically decorated with pink roses, gladioli and ferns. The mantlepiece was banked with ferns and flowers. The only light was from tall pink tapers burning in silver candelabra.

The bride was exquisitely gowned in pink chiffon and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. Dr. C. C. Daniel, of McKendree church, officiated.

Only the bride's sister, Miss Julia Lake Stevens, and members of the Skinner family were present.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Stevens, of Grenada. Since her graduation in 1925 from Grenada College she has been teaching in the city schools of McComb and Tupelo. A charming personality, lovable disposition and beauty of person, as well as manner, combine to make her a prize worth the winning. In addition to this the training she has received in a Christian home such as hers has molded and enriched her character.

Mr. Strain was educated at A. and M. College. At present he is very successfully engaged in business at Tupelo.

On the day of the wedding Mrs. Skinner, with whom Miss Julia Stevens makes her home while in Nashville, tendered an elegant five course luncheon in the bride's honor. A pink and white color motif was beautifully carried out.

Following the ceremony a dinner was given at the Andrew Jackson Hotel.

After a honeymoon trip, by motor, to Chattanooga, Tenn., atlanta, Ga., and other points of interest the happy couple will be at home to their friends in Tupelo.

The Sentinel joins their many friends in wishing for them much joy and happiness in their life together.

After an interesting session of bridge, Mrs. Ben Perry was found to have highest score and was awarded two dainty handkerchiefs. Mrs. Davis, who was smartly dressed in a blue crepe sport frock, was presented a pretty pair of hose.

P. T. A. Sponsors Clinic.

Last Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday a clinic under the auspices of the P. T. A. was held for all children of school age. Drs. F. S. Hill and R. A. A. regrets that more could not take advantage of the opportunity. The doctors' report is very gratifying for they state that on the whole the pupils are remarkably healhy.

This work will be followed up with another clinic in the fall before school opens to see that the defects which were found have been corrected as far as possible. Several members of the P. T. LETTER DESCRIBES TRIP THROUGH WEST ping along the route many times for refreshments or to view scenery which is beautiful in this part of Texas. Registered at the Baker Hotel in Dallas, a noteworthy skyscraper, where everything can be had from a shoe shine to a dinner fit for a prince. Dallas is a beautiful city with a population of more than 300,000 and indeed a prosperous city.

Thursday, May 23, 1929. We left Dallas on road No. 80 which so far has been fine. Passed through Fort Worth, a beautiful city where the golden West begins. The petroleum products alone, distributed from Fort Worth are in excess of fifty million dollars yearly. Fort Worth is the fourth largest city in Texas which is the largest state in the union.

We drove on and on, passing Weatherford, Millsaps and Mineral Wells, where Americans drink their way to health. Beautiful hill scenery all the way. We now come into Eastland - register at the Connelle Hotel, enjoy a fine dinner, retire to our rooms to dream about the beautiful things we saw today, pretty hills and dales; the crossing of Brazos River and about the Horned Toad who lived for 31 years in the corner stone of the court house at Eastland, Texas, and was found alive when the old building was torn down. He lived about a year afterwards and no doubt he died of grief from loss of his home.

Friday, May 24, 1929. After a delicious breakfast, we proceeded to Abilene, Sweetwater, Roscoe, at which point we leave Highway No. 80 and take No. 7 into Dermott, Texas. There we changed to road No. 84.

Grazing lands all dry, but will be green in the fall making a good winter grazing for stock. From Post, Texas, to Brownfield, Texas, is good farm land, and on the way there we encountered a terrific rainstorm but reached Brownfield safely. After a good night's rest in Brownfield, we find it to be Saturday, May 25th, 1929. After breakfast we headed for New Mexico, passing through a continuous stretch of desert land, a sheep and cattle country off in the distant hills, but the prairie stretch along the highway forms a play ground for huge Jack rabbits and little prairie dogs, who sit straight up on their hind legs at the slightest sound - listen a moment then scurry around and run quickly to the nearest dog home, a hole in the ground on the prairie. They are about the size of an ordinary house cat and resemble a squirrel, but the prairie dog has a short, shaggy tail. There are thousands of them throughout this section of New Mexico. We are now passing over Pecos River. The water is red as blood. Now we drop down into a beautiful little green valley with cottonwood trees on one side and weeping willows on the other, making a beautiful driveway for miles along the edge of acres and acres of green alfalfa, with its purple blossoms. We lunched along the highway and then traveled on. It's a bit warm and dusty and we fill up our thermos bottle with lemonade for the afternoon drive. It's 6 p. m. and we are at Roswell and as we never drive after six in the evening, we seek a storage garage for the car and a good hotel for ourselves. Tonight we are a bit tired so will retire early.

Sunday, May 26th, 1929. Well, this is the Sabbath and the beautiful sun is shining bright. We all feel fine. Daughter still at the wheel; although she did all the driving over last week from California, she shows no signs of fatigue and will drive to the journey's end. She says God never gives his children more than they can do and that he gave her this great privilege to pilot us over, and truly it's wonderful how she drives on and on and seems so happy. She knows every part of the car and enjoys those things in the care of a car that most ladies know little about.

We left Roswell on road No. 2. All roads have been better than I expected. We are seeing sheep ranches and sheep herders and what are called "adobe" houses. Hundreds of miles uninhabited along here. We have just had a lemon pop at Ramon Post Office, New Mexico, where Johnson brothers homesteaded 2000 acres of land. They have just three buildings and are truly pioneering, and we hope to see them again some day if the wind doesn't blow them, their houses and all away.

We leave road No. 2 and take No. 70 and pass through Vaughn, Emerson, Encino and Willard, New Mexico, viewing the ruins of many Spanish and Indian villages with a few scattering natives living as of old and cooking in outside mud ovens. I now see people plowing on Sunday. Many teams have six horses or mules and every one seems busy. In the distance I see a whirl wind—now I don't see at all, but the car is moving and my daughter says all is well. My wife cries "Stop the car!" but daughter says its only a sand blow. We keep driving and go five miles - now we are out of it and I can see again. During the sand blow our horn was continuously sounded to let other drivers know we were coming.

Now we are in sight of the Masona Mountains, towering high among the clouds, in sight of the mighty Rockies - a most wonderful sight to us. It seemed dangerous to drive such a big car over such steep and narrow winding roads, but our daughter is a fine driver and we are safely over the grade and now coming in sight of Grand Quevera, the city that died with fear, pear which the great lava beds now stand and which destroyed a great river hundreds of years ago.

We are now crossing the Rio Grande River, near Socora, where we will spend the night. As we drove along this morning along the side of the Santa Fe Railroad, we observed high levees and tall plank fences along the track to prevent snow from banking on the railroad tracks during cold weather. We arrive at Socora and register at the Hotel Val Verde where we were served by the Spanish senors and senoritas. After giving thanks to God for our safety so far, we retired.

Monday, May 27th, 1929. We leave the sleepy Spanish village of Socora and when we reach Holbrook, Arizona we will pull out on highway No. 70. We pass through the towns of Magdalena, Quemodo and Nevano, New Mexico. We stop to talk with real Indians, chatted with them in their wigwams, saw the papoose on its mother's back; saw the chiefs building their round wigwams with mud and straw. The women sat on the ground while weaving back and forth their rare, beautiful and most colorful Navajo rugs which are indeed a treasure to possess. Some of the Indians are very shy and a little girl about ten years of age cried and hid behind her squaw mother at our approach. Very few speak any English.

As we are driving through this rocky mountain section, I feel the need of an overcoat even in a closed car. We will soon approach the petrified forest. We are now crossing the little Colorado River. Everything is dry and barren.

Well, here we are at the petrified forest. Huge trees lying everywhere like huge iron blocks; some long, some short, others seem to have been blown into pieces. It's a grand sight. We stop long enough to take pictures and view this wonderful field of the oldest fossil trees known.

Now we proceed on to Holbrook, Arizona, over a high, dry country. It's well we have our thermos bottle filled as there are few stopping places along through this barren stretch of country. We also have a large water bag so that our car may have a drink when needed as there are many steep grades.

We will head for Williams, Arizona, tomorrow where we branch off to go to the Grand Canyon, and hope to get there by tomorrow night so as to remain over long enough to view the beautiful sight.

Well, here we are at Holbrook; after securing a hotel for our car and one for ourselves, we eat a substantial dinner and go curio hunting. Daughter buys us some

Middle Life Troubles

"ABOUT twenty years ago, my health was very bad," says Mrs. Mat Howard, of Terrell, Texas. "I was passing through a critical time in my life, and I suffered a great deal. I was not at all strong, and my nerves got all upset. I had hot flashes, and sometimes would get suddenly so faint I could not stand up. My head would whirl, and I could not see a thing. I would have to lie down for hours at a time.

"I improved so much after I had taken Cardui for a while. I continued the medicine for some months, until I had passed the critical period. Since then, I have given Cardui to my five daughters. All of them have continued the use of Cardui in their homes. We have all been better for having taken it."

lovely souvenirs and a lovely Navajo Indian rug for her home. We retire for the night as we expect to start out at five in the morning.

Tuesday, May 28th, 1929. We leave Holbrook, Arizona, on schedule time and before we reach Flagstaff, where we expect to have breakfast, we come in sight of the high towering San Francisco Peaks. These mountains were covered with heaps and heaps of snow, which made a beautiful picture. We pass through some small towns. The town of Two Guns, Arizona, is a queer little village. Apache Caves is an interesting stop where we took some pictures.

Well here we are at Flagstaff, and as we drive up to get gasoline we get a good sized nail and it's our first puncture, but how lucky we are to be right at a garage where Mr. Babbitt, born near Biloxi, Miss., had all the facilities necessary and like all good Mississippians did fine work and now we drive on a couple of blocks to a Flagstaff restaurant and enjoy a late breakfast.

It's early afternoon and we reach the Grand Canyon of Arizona. This wonderful Canyon is in northern Arizona. It has over one thousand square miles. Through it winds the Colorado River for a distance of over one hundred miles. It is over a mile deep at the northern rim. Its western boundary includes the broad Havasu Canyon, in whose depths we find the Havasupai Indian Reservation and a group of fine waterfalls. The northern rim is heavily forested with pine, fir and spruce, interspersed with beautiful glades of quaking aspen. It's all a mighty spectacle - one of the greatest in the world. At first you feel stupefied and then you are exhilarated. You come upon this beautiful sight sudenly. Its coloring is gorgeous. I was not prepared for such a sight.

Well, we are now at the Hotel El Tovar - rates $17 to $20 per day for two. We register at this beautiful, quiet place. A lecture is on. We retire to our rooms and make ready to see a real Indian dance at 5:30.

Well it was grand. A sacred dance - one in which they implored God to bring rain - another making glad their marriage ceremony and their wonderful war dance. It all took place out in the open near the hotel. Now we go inside where a well appointed dinner is served, and then we go to the observatory and look out over this vast area. While it is motionless, it appears like a great motion picture as we glide the telescope from side to side. As the sun goes down, all is changed, and the colors are all subdued. It is the stillest place on earth I believe, even with all the people around. There are cottages one can rent and one other hotel at a more moderate price, but the El Tovar is by far the nicest place to stop.

I am higher above sea level than I have ever been before and feel a little nearer my Maker.

Wednesday, May 29th. After breakfast we start out to motor about to all points of interest at the Canyon which covers one hundred miles or more. We stop at Hermit Trail and enjoy their refreshments and greetings from their great big yellow cat, now ten years old and which our daughter had seen there when he was three years old. He was born at the Hermit Trail. We drive from here to Kaibab Trail, then to Tonto, then to Havasu.

There is still a bit of farming done by the Indians, not more than two hundred. They get water from the Havasu Creek. They raise principally corn but a few melons, figs and peaches are also produced. Pass a vast area of fine farming land laid to waste.

The first signs of this Grand Canyon - the grandest in all the world - was discovered by Don Lopez de Cordenas of Coronados expedition in 1540, and was practically unknown until 1776 when observed by two priests. Later, it was explored by Major John Wesley Powell in 1869. I could write on and on and never begin to tell you all the beauties of this grand scenery.

Thursday, May 30th, 1929. We are now on our way to Los Angeles, but have to get back to Williams, Arizona, about sixty miles, before turning westward. A new, beautiful highway is under construction and will be fine next year.

The High Sierras are in sight. After we cross Mojave River, we start out at sixty miles an hour. We lift our eyes to mountains above the clouds and lower them to view thousands of acres of Joshua trees and beautiful plants. I am beginning to realize I am entering the golden State of California at one of its most beautiful entrances.

We are just entering Cajon Pass and we stop to view the mass of clouds hanging below the mountain tops. We proceed to San Bernardino, California, over a grade which takes us 8000 feet above sea level. Round and round we climb these mountains, looking miles below and miles above. Now we start going down, now we are down to earth again, we drive to Ontario, California, on to Pomona. We are seeing orange groves, grape vineyards, soft shell walnuts, caster bean trees, lemon groves. Just came in sight of Bremo olive grove owned by Charles C. Moore, a friend of our President, Mr. Hoover. The grove is a beautiful sight to see, thousands of trees in blossom. As we speed along we see lovely green-brown mountains in the distance and hundreds of acres of beautiful citrus and avacado groves and we pass through the largest vineyard in the world. It contains thousands of acres.

As we enter Ontario, California, we see trees that we have never seen before, such as tall eucalyptus, broad, wide, drooping, pepper trees and massive palms. Now we are passing large orchards of peaches, apricots, figs, ranches of corn, tomatoes, berries, cauliflower, celery, lettuce, carrots, asparagus, in fact everything seems to grow here at the same time. Ranchers have beautiful homes, and all oil stations are very elaborate and equipped with every comfort for the traveler. We stop here at Pomona to have our car washed and get rested up.

Friday, May 31st, 1929. At last we are coming into Los Angeles. A beautiful day, and a beautiful city. Our car is beautiful, too, after its bath. Daughter is driving us in and around the business center. It's a mass of skyscrapers and I see more people than I ever saw on State Street in Chicago. We are now fifteen minutes from Broadway. We turn west on 7th Street on to Wilshire Boulevard and then west to Hollywood. As we reach Sunset Hills, just east of the entrance to Beverly Hills we see daughter's beautiful home. This home was built and personally supervised by her and she is justified in being proud of same.

We are met at the big iron gate by a Chinese boy whose eyes sparkle with gladness as he helps us with our baggage. He has a fine dinner waiting for us. Daughter has a fourteen room home and it all looks so beautiful. Thousands of pansies and beautiful flowers, a wonderful view of the mountains, the valleys below and the ocean. It seems a small paradise to us.

Well, this is all. We are here, and if you like, I'll tell you a little of Los Angeles next week. Here's hoping we enjoy our stay and reach home safely, and I pray all who have not seen California will come at their first opportunity.

Your true and loyal citizen,

tention of returning to the house of his fathers even if he has to humble himself as did the great Henry Watterson, once the greatest of editors in the South while The Louisville Courier-Journal was at the very zenith of its influence and Watterson at his best. Mr. Watterson was displeased with the nomination of Bryan and went out with Jno. G. Carlisle, et al and pretended to back two old broken down hacks that had been nominated on a gold platform with no other purpose in view except the defeat of Bryan and the election of the Republican candidate. Mr. Watterson soon found the company he was keeping to be incongenial and the odor of the nigger unbearable so he announced his return to his own party "even if he had to gain entrance through the back or kitchen door".

Watterson gradually faded from the picture, losing his great place as advisor, some said dictator, of his party and after his death his great paper was merged with The Times, a Republican paper that he had always despised.

But there is nothing like getting used to a thing. The Bishop may have smelled so much nigger last fall when he was leading the revolt against his own party, the Republicans putting up the money, that he has come to like the effluvia of the Senegambian. If as Abraham Lincoln once said that is the thing he likes best, that is just the thing he does like. So mote it be. Ephraim is joined to his idols, let him alone. The very next thing I expect to hear from the worthy Bishop is either a denial or an apology for Mrs. Hoover having Mrs. De Priest, the nigger wife of the nigger Congressman from Chicago, to tea with her and others of the Nation's great or near great. Great God, it makes me sick.

There are other members of the Baptist clergy who it would become to make a similar announcement as did the Rev. Hitt. They have sinned almost beyond pardon but they have always preached about the saving qualities of the blood of Christ and it is time for them now to call for a large portion of the blood. And it will take lots of it to save some of them for their sins have been as of scarlet.

God bless the preachers in their place. We honor them when they stay within their God-given place, and when they strive to lead in spiritual things. If they will preach Christ and Him crucified and less of the blanket religion which seems to obsess so many of them the present day, why those in the pew will take care of public questions. From the day of the colonists up to now, the American mind has rebelled against pulpit dictation, and the preachers and the church which realize this will best serve the world.

Mister Bilbo has at last concluded that discretion is the better part of valor and will not again call the Legislature together in another extraordinary session. Not being altogether a hog he knows when he has enough and has concluded "enough is a plenty". Elected with 7 out of 8 of the congressional districts against him he swelled all up and announced he was going to be the dictator of Mississippi as is that gent with the unpronounceable name the dictator of Italy. With a Senate, the majority of which are his servile tools, he thought he had everything going his way until he ran that boy from Copiah County as his candidate for Speaker of the lower house and got all manner of hell beaten out of him. Unable to control the Insane Hospital Commission he tried in vain to have some of its members resign so that he might gain control and so handle the money and failing in this he had work stopped on it and now it is unfinished and deteriorating every day. Refusing to sign the commissions of the Highway Commissioners he hoped to have the appointment of their successors in office but much to his surprise and indignation they met, organized and went to "Highwaying" just the same.

Poor old Bilbo, at every turn except the issuing of pardons he is finding Jordan a hard road to travel.

county (Yalobusha) voted to share in it or not. The law giving the state board of education the right to allot the funds only to those counties which voted a supplementary tax is a law, Mr. Denley states whether his county objects or whether anybody else objects. Hence he decided that it would be unjust to the children of his county and to his people for them not to have an 8 months school term, so he advocated voting the extra levy and it was voted. Yalobusha county voted 10 mills. This county is asked to vote only 5 mills. This election was held last year.

It will be seen that one of the conditions on which it is possible for the schools of the county to participate in the disbursement of the increased appropriation by the legislature is that it is necessary for the county to have a minimum county wide levy of 5 mills for common school purposes. The levy in Grenada county, as you know, is 1½ mills which has not been changed in 30 years. Thus, it is necessary to increase the levy of the county 3½ mills in order to meet the minimum requirements. And in making this adjustment let it be remembered that the special districts and consolidated schools will continue to pay the same total rate in the various districts as the amount of increase will be deducted from the local levies. And too, the rural schools will be able to maintain the school term and even give the children in all of the districts an equal opportunity as to the length of term.

Sincerely yours.
LAFAYETTE ATKINSON,
Co. Supt. Education.

TOWNS ARE CHOOSING ENTRANTS IN PAGEANT

Grenada has probably the greatest number of contestants in her race for "Miss Grenada". A three weeks' contest is being run by the Grenada Theatre in which eight contestants are entered. Among them are some of the most beautiful girls in the south, educated, refined and cultured. Some of the girls have that background of ancestry of which the southern states are justly proud, and their carriage and bearing will go far to win for Grenada that much sought for honor of "Miss North Mississippi".

Nationally known figures have been invited to be present at the pageant and should they be able to accept Grenada will be extended to its utmost to accommodate the throngs who will atend. Every effort is being made by the City Beautiful to show to these as it has shown to others in the past that wonderful southern hospitality for which it is noted.

Mr. B. F. Roche, who is directing the pageant and who is giving that attention to every little detail essential to its success, is demonstrating his cleverness and his ability to all with whom he comes in contact. It is no small task he has assumed but he is proving himself remarkably fitted to put it across. Various committees are cooperating wholeheartedly with Mr. Roche and they, too, should come in for their share of praise.

BEAT 5 SUPERVISOR FAVORS SCHOOL LEVY

produce more wealth to be taxed, (2) raise our levy, (3) content ourselves with less adequate school facilities, or (4) try out the scheme of raising the county-wide levy and see if we can not get enough extra money from the state to maintain our present standards.

We are in the same condition as the fellow with the growing family whose demands are always increasing, who is trying to make the same crop on the same land that, year by year, is wearing out. He can not do it, neither can we, as a beat, do it. He, like our rural communities, will either have to get some more land to work, or work a whole lot harder, or get along without a whole lot of things that he was accustomed to have, or look to the state for relief.

Mr. Atkinson's very lucid explanation in last week's paper went into details as to how the proposition would affect each of the several communities in the county. I think that he is trying to show us a way out of the dilemma.

As I see it, we of the consolidated districts will pay the same and get more; those in the outlying districts will pay more and get more; a fair proposition any way it is viewed.

Respectfully,
W. W. WHITAKER.

WANTS UNIONISM IN SOUTH

In the June number of the Railway Clerk, published by the brotherhood of railway and steamship clerks, there appeared an article under the caption, "A Lesson In Organization". The article gives what it states are wages paid by manufacturing concerns in the New England states and in the Southern states, and assigns as a reason for the higher wages in New England that there is no organization among factory workers in the South while there is in New England.

The article states that the northern wage worker gets an average of 44.8 cents per hour while the Southern worker gets 28.8 cents per hour. The figures given are worthy pondering over by any:

The benefits of unionism are nowhere more clearly demonstrated than in the striking differences between non-union conditions in the textile industry in the South and standards set by organized labor in the North.

A survey made by a firm of industrial engineers for chambers of commerce in the southern states shows that the northern operative receives an average wage of 44.8 cents per hour, while the Southerner secures 28.8 cents per hour. The northern wage is thus 55.5 per cent greater.

Working approximately 48 hours a week, the average New England operative would be paid $21.49 per week. For 55 hours work, the Southerner would be paid $15.81. In other words, the Southerner puts in nearly 12 per cent more labor per week and receives 35.6 per cent. less wages than the New England worker.

This survey also shows that for several classes of work in textile mills, for which the New England union worker receives as much as $35 and $45 a week, the unorganized Southerner receives $10 and $15 a week!

These wage comparisons bear eloquent testimony to the value of organization to the workers. Here is the reason why southern mill owners are fighting so bitterly the effort of their employes to organize.

Here also is additional evidence of how far the theory of high wages and prosperity has penetrated the craniums of employers. Southern employers, like northern employers and employers the world over, will pay their workers decent wages if and when they are compelled to do so by the workers themselves.

MAY BREAKS RECORDS

Detroit,—May was the biggest month in the history of the Chevrolet Motor Company. Production for the month totalled 161,214 cars and trucks, breaking all records.

Under pressure of the greatest demand in Chevrolet history, its 16 giant factories in May experienced the busiest period the company has ever enjoyed. Factory wheels turned with all the speed consistent with Chevrolet's precision manufacturing methods to accommodate the demand for cars that poured in from Maine to California and from Washington to Florida.

May was the third consecutive month to set a new all-time monthly production mark. It far surpassed the March record of 147,273 units and topped the April achievement of 157,522 units.

To accomplish this record performance Chevrolet plants averaged 7,000 cars and trucks daily; an average of 777 cars and trucks were built every hour: an average of 13 were built every minute—and one was built every 4.6 seconds!

From present indications the same relatively high level of production will be maintained in June to keep pace with the demand, which officials report, continues unabated. Dealer stocks are still below normal due to the necessity of filling orders as fast as cars are received. Unfilled orders are over 300% ahead of this same period last year. It was announced definitely that June production would break all records for the month.

don't let your "economy" come too high

The man who feels that he cannot afford to buy the Chrysler-built De Soto Six is perhaps the very man who cannot afford not to buy it.

Obviously, if he buys a cheaper six he will do so entirely on the strength of its purchase price.

But purchase price is only one of the three major items entering into the expense of owning a car. There are also the costs of upkeep and of maintenance to be considered. The sum of these three actually represents what it costs you to drive any motor car.

De Soto Six is economical of fuel and oil. It will keep on running almost indefinitely with a negligible maintenance expense—records of De Sotos that have gone over 40,000 miles prove this. Consequently, in the course of a few months, your De Soto Six will easily save the difference between its price and that of a car inferior in engineering, design and materials.

This purely dollars-and-cents reason for preferring De Soto Six can be supplemented by the self-evident fact that all the time you are getting more comfort, pleasure, safety and pride of ownership from this Chrysler-built six than a cheaper car could possibly give you.

It will cost you nothing to take a demonstration—and no obligations implied.
